While canning some fruit at her home Saturday, Tena Sexton had the misfortune of receiving a bad cut on her right hand when the top of a fruit can broke. It was necessary to take five stitches in the injured member.

The new resort owned by several of the Yale people is fast becoming popular because of its beauty and facilities for having a good time. Last Sunday over seventy people visited the property and enjoyed the cool breezes of Lake Huron.

Bert Willis, age 30, and William Condauld, aged 45, of Deckerville were killed when their auto overturned at a point five miles from Watford, Ontario. The auto was registered at Sarnia. Tuesday, the accident occurring late the same night.

Frank A. Deland, the Memphis pioneer who died recently has two inventions among his many others that we are especially familiar with. One is the grass catcher for lawn mowers and the other the choked bore for shotgun barrels.

In a recent card from Al Sponenberg of Portland, Ore. he states that the Elks had a big time at their celebration in that city. He also says that the weather in Oregon is very tropical. How pleasant it would have been had we had a taste of it last week.

The bean crop in this part of the state promises to be the largest that has been grown in years. There is also a much greater acreage this year than ever before and if good weather prevails during the harvesting of the crop it will prove one of the best finance gainers of the year.

G. W. Paton, editor of the Almont Herald, comes forward with a new name for the Prohibition party. He reasons that as all parties pick some animal to represent their characteristics it would be quite appropriate for the Prohibitionists to be called the "Bull Camels."

"Movies" of prize fights will soon be a thing of the past as Congress has just passed a bill prohibiting the removal of films showing such encounters from one state to another. It is probably expected that in the future each person desiring to witness such a fight will have to have it first-hand or not at all.

The annual report of State Treasurer A. E. Sleeper shows that the state has about two million dollars more in the treasury this year than last. At the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1911, the state had a net balance of $1,746,984.61, while this year the books show a balance of available cash to the extent of $3,722,908.21.

The old five cent piece will soon give way to a newer rival. The new nickel will have a buffalo on the face and an Indian on the reverse side. No information has been given out as to the significance of the new markings on the coin but we are lead to infer that the term liberty thereon is becoming rather antiquated one and that something more in keeping with the speed of modern times would be more appropriate.

Arrangements have been completed for the annual Junction of the Port Huron Business Association which will be held August 12 and 14. They will leave Port Huron by special train Monday, August 12, at 7:15 o'clock and will reach Yale at 8:32 remaining until 9:30. The party, which will consist of 150 business men, will stop at Marlette for dinner and at Cass City overnight, returning by way of Lapeer Tuesday.

The Peck Times of last week states that a battle royal is soon to be fought between Roseburg and Yale over the proposition of the Detroit, Bay City & Western railroad, otherwise known as the Handy Iron, road, going to Port Huron by the way of Roseburg or to Detroit via Yale. The road will make whichever place furnishes the most bonus. Now, so far, there has been little heard in Yale over the extension of the D. B. C. & W. this far but when it does come there will be no question but Yale will pull the road here. We will acknowledge that the old fable of the lion and the mouse contains much truth but the advent of another railroad into this city is too live a business proposition for us to let pass.

The St. Clair county Parnona Grange will hold a basket picnic and rally in City Park at Yale August 21. Everybody invited to attend. A splendid program is being prepared. This will be the banner picnic of the county. See program next week.

T. H. Parkinson, Master.

Owing to the fact that too many other attractions were set for last Friday evening the meeting of the Citizens Improvement Club failed to materialize and was postponed to a future date. This meeting has been called for the purpose of boosting our city and when the date has been decided upon every member should be in attendance.

Lee Emery has been arrested for stealing a typewriter from Ferdinand Woytych last April and after pleading guilty in the police court Wednesday is being held for trial in the circuit court. Young Emery, formerly a resident of Yale, recently attracted much attention by eloping to Sarnia with a girl from Lexington, living with her only a few weeks.

The Port Huron Good Roads Construction Co. have decided that they had better complete the two miles of state road that they undertook to build north of this city two years ago and on Wednesday brought two trains of wagons up from Port Huron. The road was not up to the requirements of the contract when the company left it and they were unable to receive their money for it. It is their intention to repair the road and meet with it state requirements and they think the work will be completed before fall.

Purses to the extent of $7,000 will be hung up by the different towns which comprise the Thumb racing circuit, and the interest which the meets are stirring up in the respective places insures the efforts of the men behind the organization will be successful. An unusually large number of horses have been secured and this number includes some of the best horses on the track. Reports from each of the other towns in the circuit are to the effect that much enthusiasm is being shown in anticipation of the coming meets. The dates for the Yale meeting are Aug. 28 and 29.

P. M. Poor Host

Port Huron and Detroit drew a large number of people from this city last Sunday when the Pere Marquette ran an excursion to both cities. 45 tickets were sold to Port Huron and 77 to Detroit. An excursion was also run to the latter place from Harbor Beach and Port Austin and both the trains were loaded to their capacity. There was much confusion at Port Huron however upon the return of the train from Detroit in the evening. The trains had been combined in the morning and when they arrived from Detroit at night there was a grand melee of people looking for the cars that would constitute their respective trains. So great was the confusion that several women became hysterical. Despite the fact that the storm was at its height people were obliged to hunt for their trains in the midst of the downpour. It seems a shame when there were so many patrons of the P. M. on this day that some accommodations could not have been furnished them instead of making them suffer all the inconvenience that it would have been an easy matter to have stationed someone at the depot to inform the excursionists that the trains would be made up and their departures announced. The station policeman did announce the trains but not until nearly everyone had become drenched looking for the right section. If the Pere Marquette expects to receive the patronage of the people along these two lines it had better provide better accommodations than have been furnished in the past.

Novel Advertising Scheme

People are wondering if C. W. Post really expected to produce rain when he exploded 4,500 lbs. of dynamite on Tuesday of last week, presumably for that purpose, or whether it is just another of the millionaire food manufacturer's novel advertising schemes. There is no doubt but that Battle Creek experienced a heavy downpour of rain soon after the experiment was tried but the weather observers at Detroit and Washington stated that no faith can be placed in the test even then for a rain storm was due there anyway. The fact that Post was instrumental in having the experiment given great publicity throughout the country, and that, being the conductor, his name will be connected with the moving pictures taken, makes it appear that the cost of the dynamite would be more than offset by the extensive advertising that resulted. The experiment has been tried several times before without success and Post is too wise a business man to throw away money on a proposition that would not pay sure results.
